[REDACTED] ,

Als je als doel hebt om er zo efficient mogelijk achter te komen hoe de guidance technisch werkt (een soort introductiecursus met wat diepgang) dan vind ik de suggestie van [REDACTED] zo gek nog niet.

[REDACTED] 11.1
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Als je je beperkt tot alleen imidacloprid cases ([REDACTED] 11.1 [REDACTED]) dan haal je de politieke angel eruit dat het toelatingsproces in de volledige breedte mogelijk helemaal vast loopt bij introductie van de guidance: zie de ECPA analyse van deze week waarin ze beweren dat 100% van de middelen (ook alle herbiciden) blijven steken in de eerste tier.

[REDACTED] 11.1 [REDACTED] 10.2.e [REDACTED]

Je zult dus voor mijn gevoel politieke argumenten moeten gebruiken om de cases breder te houden dan imidacloprid. Mijn suggestie is om te overleggen met de commissie en met een gezamenlijke reactie te komen (COM staat meestal tussen jou en EFSA in tot nu toe).

[REDACTED] 11.1

Nu [REDACTED], [REDACTED] : wat vinden we ervan?

Gezien het feit dat we wildenwerken met zowel insecticides als herbicide en gezien de opm van COM dat er te weinig verschillende 11.1 ) gewassen bijzitten?

Ook is iedereen al wat begonnen met de voorbereiding, toch?

Kortom: ik weet niet of het zo een goede suggestie is in deze fase!

Wat jullie??

Groet, 10.2.e

Dear 10.2.e , all,

10.2.e , 10.2.e , 10.2.e and I agreed that imidacloprid would be a good example to expand the assessment with accumulative effects and guttation. Is it intended that each of the subgroups works on different substances?

In order to see how the GD works it would probably be sufficient to have only 4 cases –spray and seed treatment / attractive and non-attractive crop. It could be done with the same substance. This would reduce the preparatory work and also the participants would save time because they would not need to search for different endpoints etc. and they could fully focus on how to do the assessment. Imidacloprid could be a good example – we have it already as a seed treatment for a non-bee attractive crop. What would need to be added are uses as a seed treatment for a bee attractive crop and a sprays on non-bee attractive and on a bee attractive crop.

What do you think about that?

Best wishes,

Dear 10.2.e,

first of all: thank you very much for your suggestions and the offer to help to expand one of the existing cases. It is very helpful for the programme, I am sure.

(@10.2.e : would you please forward this e-mail to 10.2.e , I do not have her e-mail address at my disposal).

I am sure that either the 11.1 experts that share the preparation of the cases amongst them deem it an excellent opportunity to make use of your offer to help in developing a case that could go through all the assessment stages.

Question to all (experts):

Would you please let us all know, which case might be the most suitable to ask the EFSA colleagues for their help in preparing the possibility for a 'full assessment'?

At the moment, we have a list of eight cases, two of them will be prepared by DE experts, two cases will be prepared by FR experts (still to be confirmed definitely) and four cases by NL experts (one is already prepared as a pilot, as you have all seen).

I will send the list of cases tomorrow to all.

Until tomorrow, best regards,

10.2.e

Dear 10.2.e , all,

We think that it would be beneficial to have an opportunity during the workshop to try the full assessment in order to see if the assessment causes problems. We do not have the resources to develop a full case study. However, we could offer to help expanding one of the suggested case studies with the assessments of accumulative effects and guttation water assessment or alternatively to present simple examples on how to do these assessments without developing a full case study. Probably it would be better to go for option 1 in order to have a complete case.

10.2.e looks into developing an excel sheet for the evaluation of 1st tiers. An initial version of the excel calculator could be presented at the workshop. If it is found useful then it could be developed further after the workshop.

I hope that you find our suggestions for developing the program useful.

Best wishes,

Dear colleagues,

'Time is running', I am afraid.....deadline is today!
Could you please let me know asap when you have planned to react to my e-mail of 1st November, see below?
We have to take next steps in preparations, otherwise we will run out of time to let MS (and ourselves) prepare themselves properly!

This week our colleague 10.2.e from EFSA contacted us (NL). He looks into the matter to also prepare a case, perhaps a more fictitious one, than the existing authorisation cases we already listed! He will let me know next week. And perhaps I might ask now: @10.2.e would you please also let the group know (see e-mail addressees and cc listed contacts)?
With his comment and possible offer to help, I am very happy.

Hope to hear very soon!

Best regards and have a nice weekend later on,

10.2.e

Onderwerp:

Dear colleagues,

Please find attached several documents that have been prepared by my colleagues and myself to further organise our planned workshop on the EFSA GD for bees; the list of cases and the agenda are proposals!

The German colleagues have already been involved and helped in suggesting cases and offered their willingness to prepare several cases:
Thanks!

@ [REDACTED] : could you please let me know the extra case (see list of cases) and your willingness to prepare until 8th November?

Cases and agenda proposal

My experts prepared a first case as an example and developed a format, spreadsheet and possible guiding questions during the work at the planned workshop.

1. list of cases and proposals for preparation
2. prepared case (1.) a. spreadsheet and b. template/format for reporting, including guiding questions
3. agenda proposal

Organisation issues:

A.

Next to this, we have further arranged the venue (Thon Hotel Bristol Stephanie, Brussels) with much help by COM: thank you! We made a reservation, this does not include reservations for the rooms!

My minister agreed to pay for the venue, food and (some) drinks during our stay.

B.

NL would also be willing to look for a 'general chair' during the plenary sessions on day 1 and 2. But if COM has other suggestions, please feel free to let me know!

Last, but not least:

For the 4 break-out groups we need chairs and rapporteurs.

Together with Thomas, I would like to make the following suggestion: 4 chairs from COM-side together with 4 MS (expert level) rapporteurs. DE, FR, UK and NL are suggested for rapporteur positions.

DE and NL also propose to prepare the meeting with chairs and rapporteurs, perhaps including a meeting face-to-face on Tuesday afternoon/evening, 10 December.

Question

Could you let me know your comments and suggestions/reflections until 8th November, next week?

Thank you!

Cheers and have a nice weekend,

10.2.e
